FR DAVID'S GOSPEL REFLECTION: Today we begin a journey with Jesus and his disciples. It will extend over several months and feature readings from what is called Luke's travel or journey narrative (9:51 – 19:44). The journey moves from northern Galilee to Jerusalem and focuses on two themes: the identity of Jesus (Christology) and what it means to follow him (discipleship). Today's inaugural reading from Luke 9 suggests that the journey may be long, nonviolent, difficult and important. The journey from northern Galilee to Jerusalem will be long. Nevertheless, despite the trials along the way, Jesus courageously sets his face toward Jerusalem. The journey will be nonviolent. He refuses to destroy his Samaritan enemies or call down fire from heaven on his foes. Jesus shows himself to be the best example of his own teaching about loving one's enemies. The journey will be difficult. And so Jesus warns a prospective follower not to expect physical comfort or a stable residence. The journey will be important, for it concerns proclaiming God's coming kingdom.
